Welcome to Gilbert White's House & Gardens

Be inspired by Gilbert White, Frank Oates and Lawrence Oates to take a journey into the Natural World. The beautiful historic house that was once the home to Gilbert White is now home to an eclectic museum, gardens and visitor centre.

Explore the museum that commemorates Gilbert White, pioneering 18th Century naturalist, Frank Oates Victorian explorer and Lawrence Oates, member of the tragic Terra Nova expedition to the South Pole. We are lucky to be situated in one of the most beautiful areas of the South Downs, and have 25 acres of garden for our visitors to enjoy. The garden is beautiful all year round, and a fascinating mixture of restored heritage garden and natural conservation. Visit our excellent new café perfect for groups that can sit up to 50. Your group also have the opportunity to see White's 18th Century Brewhouse recently converted back into a nano-brewery.

The car park can take cars and coaches; when it's busy visitors can be dropped outside the House and coaches parked in lay-bys approximately a mile distant either North or South of the village.

Selborne Village

The pretty historic village of Selborne is located within the South Downs National Park. There are superb walks, including up Gilbert White's ZigZag path on to the Selborne Hanger. There is a pottery, a selection of village shops, and a café on the high street, and The Selborne Arms Pub. The village church, where Gilbert White is buried, has two stained glass windows commemorating him, is directly opposite the Museum, and well worth a visit.
